

Total regulations over time, including direct and indirect regulations. (A) Represents the multiplicative approach, where indirect regulations are weighted based on their fractional contribution to gross domestic product (GDP). (B) Represents the additive approach where regulations from every input industry are added together. Note that with this approach Hunting and Trapping and Fishing have a very similar number of total regulations, which result in near overlapping lines.